ICNMD2018 media registration – general terms and conditions

Media participation at the 15th International Congress on Neuromuscular Diseases (ICNMD2018) is subject to approval by the ICNMD2018 secretariat and is extended to accredited members of the press. Professional science communicators, editors of scientific journals and health, science, and research public information officers may also qualify for complimentary media badges. A maximum of two (2) press passes can be issued per organization. Press badges do not include free access to social or ticketed events.

Media registration requirements

All media representatives must be approved by ICNMD2018 before being officially registered.

Journalists, including photographers, must work exclusively for the outlet for which they are credentialed (exceptions for freelance journalists are detailed below). Journalists who use their media privileges to work for non-credentialed organizations will have their privileges revoked.

Media representatives are required to submit the following:

- > A letter of assignment on the letterhead of the news organization being represented confirming your work as a journalist or a health and science communications professional;
- > A copy of official press credentials, such a press card issued by a recognized journalists' association or a government-sanctioned press organisation and/or a business card issued by a recognized news organization.

Freelance Journalists incl. Photographers:

Freelance journalists, including photographers, may work for multiple publications, as long as they confirm in advance that those publications are eligible for media registration.

Freelance journalists must submit the following:

- > A letter of assignment on the letterhead of the news organisation being represented confirming your work as a journalist or a health and science communications professional;
- > A recent copy of the publication (a mailed copy, link to the publication's website or a photocopy of a cover/issue published within the past 12 months), or copies of two by-lined medical/health/science articles (or credited photos) published within the last six months. Web links are acceptable, provided the full article can be accessed.

Upon approval of your application, a dedicated registration link will be sent to you.

Additional tickets can be purchased at regular registration fees through the ICNMD2018 website.
